The package includes the source code written in C++ and it is geared toward advanced PC users. Portability advantages Since there is no installation involved, you can save the program files to any part of the hard disk and just click the executable to launch DHCPD32. Another possibility is to copy it to a USB flash disk or similar removable storage unit, in order to run it on any PC with minimum effort and no previous installers. What's more, it does not create new entries in the Windows registry or Start menu, thus leaving no traces behind after removal. Intuitive interface and settings The GUI is represented by a command-line window and a graphical frame, where the DHCP thread is automatically started. It is possible to modify the IP pool starting address, size of pool, boot file, WINS/DNS server, default router, mask, domain and netmask, as well as to view and clear the log. Evaluation and conclusion We have not come across any issues in our tests, since DHCPD32 did not hang, crash or pop up error messages.
