In the distant future, you will live in a world of solar power. You will go about your daily life, working, living, and dying. You will interact with items in your world, harvest them, and use them to perform actions with your fellow inhabitants. That is your reality now. But not too long from now, reality itself will change. A new form of energy will soon be discovered. Your world will be replaced by a world of electricity. The sun will no longer be your power. A new type of society will rise. Potioneer is a real-time gardening simulator where you will make your own garden, craft your own home, harvest and craft unique items, and most importantly, blend these items into powerful potions. You can explore your fully modeled world in VR. Potioneer features a wide selection of powerups and special items in Early Access. Key features: * World built from the ground up for virtual reality in VR using the Unity engine. * Crafting system that allows you to make a variety of items * New elements: grow your own herbs and mushrooms, make your own furniture and tools, and combine and measure and analyse ingredients into crafting recipes. * Personalize your own home by creating your own furniture and decorations * Unique items to craft * Potions that can be used to combine and measure ingredients to create powerful potions

What's new in Potioneer: The VR Gardening Simulator:

Potioneer is an extremely labour-intensive VR gardening simulator where players can experience their effects on the ecosystem around them. The game is physically-based and will affect all aspects of the biology of plant life, including germination and foliage growth, plant death, nutrient cycles, insect pests, disease and fungal infestation. Potioneer's creator, Nick Landau, started the project with the aim of creating "a game that will impact how others view farming in the years to come." It took him a year to have something he was proud of. Potioneer was originally a prototype created to test the viability of a virtual reality farming simulator as compared with traditional farming experiences. Nick and his team at Soulbot Studios have since gone on to produce a fully-fledged virtual reality product. It is available on Oculus Rift and the HTC Vive. Gameplay The game takes you through an action packed VR experience. When the player first boots up the game, they are located on a stylized farm landscape. You are made aware of the day/night cycle. Simply turn your head to follow the visible passing of time. During the day, you have access to your workbench, journal, and tools to help you perform tasks. To begin setting up your farm, click on the workbench, which by default is in the middle of the screen. Explore the workbench to find the various tools you need to use. Move to the left of the screen and a tree pruner appears on a pedestal. Click to select your tree pruner. The trees will drop foliage as your climb the tree to clear leaves. Turn right in front of the workbench, some soil loosers should appear at your side. Click to use the soil loosers, gently turning the soil to disperse hills. As you progress through the game, more obstacles such as stones and plants will appear on the path, which you can push using the downward pointing Select button or hit with a hammer. Some pathways may be out of reach, making movement within the world a difficult challenge at the start of the game. If you are feeling like a true vintner you will appreciate the wine bottle floating in the world on your workbench. Click the workbench to make it appear. Brew a virtual glass of wine using the bottle to your heart's content. You won't find your hop plants ready to harvest until the later stages of the game.

Potioneer: The VR Gardening Simulator

Ville Linnakangas, the owner of LUSH, a successful organic gardening shop near Helsinki, promises to teach you to grow fresh food on your own. So grab your VR headset, build yourself a greenhouse, and become a farmer. There's plenty of plants to cultivate, animals to feed, and harvest to gather as you take on the challenge of growing delicious food. All of this in Potioneer's colorful world.

It may seem like a simple job. But now you can plant your own organic garden, play with a real ferret, grow & learn about plants and animals. What's more, you can do all that without wearing a VR headset; you won't have to buy a VR headset to play. From home on any device with an interface to the Web you'll be just a click away from the Virtual Reality world.

Claim your wildest dream of a growing and living organic garden. You need to invest some time and plenty of work to keep your plants and produce healthy, but we'll make sure you don't have to pay much. You'll probably need to experiment a little bit to get a great crop. But we've brought different plants so you can test out different farming styles.
