There is nothing small, there is nothing great. 3. I am the Lord of the stars; there are no other gods but me. 4. The earth is mine, the fulness thereof; I am the Lord, and there is none besides me. 5. From the beginning of the world, till the consummation of the age, there is but one God, the living and true God, who for a thousand years, in unceasing succession, governs this world, and by the same, a thousand years previously, governed the world that shall follow after. 6. All things have been created that they might work together for the glory of God. 7. If your eye is sinful, your whole body shall be held accountable for your sin. 8. Unbelievers and imposters there are none: all are called to the true faith, one God only, and Jesus Christ. 9. For inasmuch as they have known the kindness and love of God, they are changed; changed through the Holy Spirit. 10. If anyone says that he has not sinned, may God grant him this grace that he had not sinned. 11. Now, all of you

This is a soundtrack for the currently available free-to-play video game The House of Da Vinci. It was created as an Interactive Experience, through a playlist system, that allows you to discover and experience Leonardo da Vinci's world through sound. It can be experienced through earphones or headphones. The House of Da Vinci was designed and developed by The Park Creator and the composer of this content was Eru. The soundtrack is composed of original and recreated compositions. Music is orchestrated in a dark and very organic style and has an electronic and acoustic side. This Musical Experience has been composed as an interactive experience, with the option to listen to the soundtrack as a playlist instead of listening to it as it is played in the game. The format of the soundtrack consists of two MP3 files, which are based on the DTS master. The soundtrack contains minutes and minutes of content. The playing time of the whole soundtrack, without breaks and pauses, is about 50 minutes. In addition to that, there are a few tracks, which have not been generated, and has not been included within the playlist system. The playlists are designed for the generation of a pleasant and immersive experience while playing the game. All sound sources used within the soundtrack have been chosen carefully, so that they would match the overall environment of the game. Moreover, all of these elements have been mixed and miked, so they would naturally blend within the environment of the game. This allows you to feel that you are inside the game, and not just listening to a track, which is played in the background. The initial idea behind developing the soundtrack was to create a unique, immersive experience, which would be satisfying to listen to, and would make you want to keep playing. Keep your eyes open for more about The House of Da Vinci in the next days. Digital Distribution: The House of Da Vinci Soundtrack is available for free from the following link. What's new in The House Of Da Vinci Soundtrack:

The House of Da Vinci is a 2011 British thriller film written and directed by Eran Creevy. The film stars Sean Bean, Philippa Coulthard, Adrien Brody, Kenneth Cranham and Marta Sanz. The House of Da Vinci was released in the UK on 31 March 2011 through the distribution company Why Go? Films. Plot In 1935, the woman known as The Angel of Pain, an experimental doctor named Bertha van Houten, performs artificial insemination on a female surgeon named Rosa Blum. Before her death, Rosa testifies that a descendant of the Da Vinci family will control all the corporations of our time, producing a master-slave race. In 1973, both Rosa's son, Henry, and her daughter, Lisa are forced to move into a dilapidated old castle and into the company of members of the original Da Vinci family. Several of the captors are complete strangers to them and their memories are either mostly covered up or suppressed. The only connections the two are given are Bertha van Houten, Rosa's doctor, and Richard Schiller, Rosa's AI doctor. Henry is kidnapped in Europe where he is taken into a partially abandoned school that was once used as a concentration camp. He is sent a videotape where Bertha van Houten explains that a devastating eclipse nearly destroyed the world and that humanity has survived by using a series of cloning stations throughout the world. As the virus that was at the basis of the clone process has been removed, there are no more clones, although some bodies are still alive. She then explains that there is a clone of Henry called Xiao Hu but that he was not experienced enough to replace Henry. She goes on to say that this new clone, Xiao Hu, lacks the survival instincts of a real person. With Xiao Hu, Henry would have a purpose beyond just surviving but would also be reduced to a highly personalised replica which could be left alone. Henry is sent a second videotape that explains that if he is to create a slave race through a cultural evolutionary technique, he must remain free from his own inhibitions as the slave is reduced to a machine. Xiao Hu is then shown a series of videos featuring a film director named Victor. He is shown to be increasingly drowsy after a movie and plied with alcohol, an effect that he revels in. He ends up having a drunken "dream" where he plays baseball with a woman and
